PIUS X IS CROWNED

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY TAKES PLACE IN THE BASILICA OF ST. PETER'S.

IMMENSE CROWD PRESENT

FULLY SEVENTY THOUSAND PEOPLE CRUSH INTO THE SACRED EDIFICE.

PONTIFF BECOMES FATIGUED

ORDEAL OF THE CORONATION IS ALMOST BEYOND HIS ENDURANCE.

Rome, Aug. 10.—The ceremony of the coronation of Pope Pius X took place Sunday in the basilica of St. Peter's in the presence of the princes and high dignitaries of the church, diplomats and Roman nobles, and with all the solemnity and splendor associated with this, the most magnificent rite in the Roman Catholic church.

As Cardinal Macchi, the dean of the cardinal deacons, placed the crown on the head of the venerable pontiff, the throng of 70,000 persons gathered within the cathedral burst into unrestrained acclamations, the choir intoned a hymn of triumph and the bells of Rome rang out a joyful peal.

It is fifty-seven years since the Romans and Europe assisted in such a function at St. Peter's. The great basilica, popularly supposed never to have been quite full, was Overflowing With Humanity.

The papal throne, a bewildering mixture of gold, red and silver, was erected in front of the high altar. As, contrary to custom on these ceremonial occasions, there were no galleries, the basilica bore more of its normal aspect. On the altar, which was in white, stood the famous silver gilt candlesticks and a magnificent crucifix. All the available standing space in the cathedral was divided into sections by wooden barriers, which to a certain extent kept the vast crowd in order. In the early hours after sunrise a thick fog hung over Rome, and one bank of the Tiber could not be seen from the other, while from the St. Angelo bridge one seemed to look into a fathomless abyss instead of into the river.

The effect was especially magnificent on entering the piazza of St. Peter's. At times Michael Angelo's great dome disappeared completely from view, while at others it appeared through the flowing golden mist. As the morning wore on the fog dispersed and the sun shone with all its southern intensity until it became unbearably hot, and the stones, columns and statues seemed to radiate the heat on the thousands.

Waiting to Enter the Church.

At 6 a. m. the ringing of bells announced the imminent opening of the doors and a commotion at once began among the crowd. But ten minutes had to elapse before the doors were opened and each seemed a century to the waiting crowd which for hours already had been standing before the closed portals. The police and Italian soldiers had a difficult task to maintain order, as the crushing and fatigue had begun to tell on the patience of the people.

When the doors opened the thrush was terrific; many who started from the bottom of the steps outside were lifted off their feet and carried into the cathedral. It was a great human torrent, loose, thousands of people rushing and squeezing amid screams, protests, gesticulations and cries for help. But once in the whirlpool there was no escape and the compactness of the crowd proved to be the safety of those caught in it. Women fainted in comparatively large numbers and even men were overcome by the heat, but no serious accidents were reported. Fortunately there were very few children present.

On Their Feet for Ten Hours.

After their entrance, the people had further long hours of waiting, and it is computed that the majority were on their feet altogether ten hours, five before the ceremony and another five hours while it lasted.

Those who had received special invitations, including the high ecclesiastics, who were not participating in the procession, the diplomats and the Roman aristocracy, had a reserved entrance through the sacristy of St. Peter's.

Inside the vatican palace there was no less movement and bustle as the papal procession composed of about 500 persons, all of whom had gathered early in the apostolic palace, was formed. The pope seemed to be the only tranquil one among them all. He arose unusually early and took a stroll in the vatican garden. Then he allowed himself to be dressed by the cardinals. He evinced no nervousness and even said jokingly to the master of ceremonies, who the other day suggested that he should use the plural form in speaking of himself, "we feel very well this morning, but we may be different on returning from our coronation."

Just before entering the sedia gestatoria he asked for his spectacles, and when the master of ceremonies discreetly hinted that his holiness would Look Better Without Them, he said: "I have no desire to appear what I am not," and he wore them during the entire ceremony.

The procession was a long time in getting under way, but afterward as it moved through the magnificent halls and corridors of the vatican it recalled former days when all was color and picturesqueness within the palace.

The central figure in the long cortege was Pius X, borne in the sedia gestatoria. His heavy white robes and the red and gold mitre were worn without an effort, making a vivid contrast to those memorable occasions on which Pope Leo XIII wore them, for Leo seemed always unable to support their weight. Over the pontiff's head a canopy was held by eight men, while the historic ostrich feather fans with peacock tips gave a touch of barbaric splendor to Western eyes.

Surrounding Pope Pius were the noble guard in new red uniforms and gleaming helmets and carrying drawn swords, while in front marched the cardinals, a gorgeous bit of color with many handsome faces among them, the cardinal-bishops in their capes, the cardinal-priests, wearing chasubles, and the cardinal-deacons in their dalmatics. Another figure which evoked murmurs of admiration and craning of necks was the chaplain in his crimson cope proudly bearing the cushion on which reposed the famous triple crown so soon to rest on the head of Pius.

Worships in the Sistine Chapel.

Before leaving the vatican, the pope went to the Sistine chapel to worship before the sacrament exposed therein, thence passing through the Sala Regia and the Constantine staircase into the portico of the basilica. He there seated himself on a throne erected directly before the holy door and seats around for the members of the sacred college, the chapter of St. Peter's and the papal court, at the right of the throne stood Prince Orsina, the assistant to the papal throne, who withdrew his recent resignation of the post in order to participate at the function. Immediately beside the pope were the major domo, Mgr. Cagliano, the master of the chamber, Mgr. Bisleti, the master of ceremonies, Mgr. Riggs, and Dr. Laponi.

The pontiff was exceedingly pale, but composed.

The low ceiling sent back an exquisite echo of the "Tuus Petrus" sang by the Sistine choir, whose voices were heard outside in the piazza of St. Peter's. Cardinal Rampolla advanced with dignity, knelt and kissed the foot of the pontiff. He then presented in a firm voice the wishes and greetings of the chapter of St. Peter's, which he said "offer an act of obedience to your holiness and wish you a prosperous and glorious pontificate."

Pontiff Visibly Touched.

The pontiff was visibly touched and, answering in a trembling voice, warmly thanked the chapter for their well wishes. "Good wishes," he said, "are extremely precious."

The procession then re-entered and proceeded to the door of the basilica through which Pius X cast an almost terror-stricken glance, whispering to Dr. Laponi, "Shall I ever be able to go through with it?"

The people in the basilica had meantime become impatient and when the gleaming cross which preceded the cortege was seen it was greeted with great applause. On the appearance of the pontiff himself it seemed as though the people would seek to carry him in their arms, so great was their enthusiasm. Cries of "Long live Pius X," were raised, notwithstanding the large placards posted all over the basilica saying: "Acclamations are forbidden." Leaflets to the same effect were distributed among the crowd. The cries continued until the pontiff was compelled to rise and bless the multitude, and at the same time he made a sign for more reverential behavior. Silence was obtained when the choir announced its entrance with the resounding notes of the "ecce sacerdos magnus," accompanied by the sweet notes of silver trumpets.

"Sic Transit Gloria Mundi."

A quaint ceremony was then carried out. The master of the ceremonies knelt three times before the pontiff, each time lighting a handful of hemp which surmounted a silver torch, and as the flame flashed and then died out he chanted "pater sancte, sic transit gloria mundi" (holy Father, thus passeth away the glory of the world).

The procession then proceeded, the pope's face meanwhile illuminated by a smile. At the chapel of the sacrament his holiness left the sedia gestatoria and prayed at the altar. On re-entering the chair he was carried to the chapel of St. Gregory, where he officiated at a mass, being assisted by Cardinals Macchi, Di Pitero, Segna and Vannutelli. Then all the cardinals donned their silver copes and white mitres and the pope was borne to the throne amid renewed acclamations.

The scene presented on his mounting the throne formed a magnificent picture. The central figure was the venerable pontiff, seated on the throne and scarlet reached to the high altar with its burden of burning candles and sacred vessels, while around stood the papal guards, the pontifical court, monks and officials. The cathedral was illuminated with twinkling lights, while the mangle columns and walls rendered the color scheme more vivid. Overhead was the most magnificent dome in the world, up to which floated the harmony of the music.

Called Forth Enthusiasm.

From the throne Pius X, surrounded by his suite, walked to the high altar, standing over the crypt of St. Peter's. The appearance of the pope in that elevated position called forth another burst of enthusiasm. The pope then blessed the altar, and after saying the "Indulgentiam," the manipule, a symbol of the cord with which Christ was bound on his capture, was placed, with great ceremony, upon the pope's arm. At the same time prayers for the coronation were recited by four cardinals. Cardinal Macchi placed upon the shoulders of the pope the pontifical pallium and attached it with three golden jeweled pins.

Mass was then celebrated with great pomp and ceremony, the voice of the pope becoming gradually more firm and sonorous until it was even audible in the most distant corner of the immense church. Following this Cardinal Macchi performed the rite of incensing the pope, whom he subsequently kissed three times on the cheeks and chest as did Cardinals Segna and Vannutelli. Upon the pope's return to the throne the cardinals offered their last obedience to the pontiff, kissing his hand and feet, and being embraced by him twice in turn. The bishops and archbishops kissed his foot and right knee, while the abbots kissed only his foot. The holy father then walked to the shrine of St. Peter for the culminating rites of the

Extremely Fatiguing Ceremony.

The whole sacred college gathered about the pope singing the "Corona Aurea Super Caput Ejus," while the choir burst forth into song. Cardinal Macchi then recited the "Pater Noster Noster" and offered a short prayer.

Cardinal Deacon Segna then raised the pontiff's mitre and Senior Cardinal Deacon Macchi placed on the venerable white head the triple crown. At this moment the church was filled with the ringing of bells, the blowing of silver trumpets, the triumphant strains of the choir and the acclamations of the multitude, which could no longer be repressed.

When comparative silence had been restored Cardinal Macchi addressed the pope in Latin, as follows:

"Receive the tiara ornamented with three crowns. Remember thou art the father of princes and kings, the rector of the world, the vicar on earth of our Saviour, Jesus Christ, who is the honor and glory of all centuries."

"Amen," burst forth from the concourse.

Pope Pius was quite overcome and had scarcely strength left to impart the apostolic benediction. Cardinals Macchi and Segna granted a plenary indulgence to all present, and the procession then re-formed and left the basilica in the same form as it came. The pope was visibly fatigued and his right hand shook as he raised it time after time to bestow his blessing.

When the ceremony was over all the exits to the basilica were opened and within less than an hour the vast cathedral was empty.

Ordeal Was Very Trying.

Strong as Pius X is physically, he supported the ordeal of his coronation perhaps with less fortitude than did Leo XIII when he was crowned, although the latter was merely a shadow of a man. But he possessed a will which nothing could break. Sunday evening, when the pontiff received the Duke of Parma, he said to him:

"Not counting the election, today was the most tremendous experience of my life. I must find a way to stop the noise in the church. It is an offense against religion."

Besides Cardinal Gibbons, there were present at the ceremony Mgr. Kennedy, and the entire American college party, the archbishop of Manila, Mgr. O'Connell, Rev. Charles P. Granahan, Father Wall, Father John E. Burke, Father E. W. Fowler of Sioux City, Ia., and Father Thomas B. Donovan.

No place was specially reserved for the family of the pope, the only member of his family present being his nephew, Parolin, who is a parish priest.

At night all the churches and religious institutions and in addition many private houses were illuminated in honor of the occasion.

The pontiff was so fatigued by the ceremony that he has postponed the meeting of the consistory which was to have been held today.

Sixteen Persons Hurt.

Cincinnati, Aug. 10.—By the collision of electric cars on the Cincinnati and Eastern Interurban line Sunday between Mount Washington and Bethel, O., two crowded cars were badly damaged and sixteen persons hurt, four very seriously.

BURN CAPTIVES ALIVE

MUSSULMANS ARE ALARMED

TURKISH GOVERNMENT TAKING EVERY MEASURE TO SUPPRESS REVOLT.

Constantinople, Aug. 10.—Late dispatches from Hilmi Pasha, inspector general of the reform movement, announce the insurgents in large numbers in the district of Chauri, Vilayet of Monastir, attacked the village of Djivarek, near Kastoria and massacred the inhabitants, including women and children, and then ferociously attacked neighboring villages, taking many captives, some of whom were burned alive. Some Greek peasants were also killed in one of the Kazis of the vilayet of Monastir, and in the vilayet of Ohrida insurgents likewise attacked some Mussulman villages.

They everywhere displayed rage and ferocity, and the Mussulman inhabitants were greatly terrorized.

The government is taking every measure possible to suppress the rising. Eight more battalions have been ordered to the vilayet of Monastir.

M. Maucordato, the Greek minister, has made representations to the porte on behalf of the Greek subjects. M. Rostkowski, the Russian consul at Monastir, it turns out, was murdered Saturday morning by a Czaptis, a member of the Turkish police, who was on duty outside the consulate. The assassin was arrested. Said Pasha, the grand vizier, and Tewfik Pasha, minister of foreign affairs, called on the Russian ambassador, M. Zinovief, and expressed the government's deep regret over the occurrence.

The insurgents held the town of Krushevo, twenty-three miles north of Monastir, for two days and only withdrew after severe fighting with the Turkish troops in which 160 were killed on both sides.

WILL FIGHT TO THE DEATH.

Macedonians Will Gain Reform or Perish in the Attempt.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Aug. 10.—"Nothing can end the present revolution in Macedonia until our national aspirations are satisfied or those fighting to attain them are exterminated."

This was the concluding sentence of a statement made to a special correspondent who is investigating the situation in Macedonia, by the Macedonian committee at the revolutionary headquarters here.

"The object of the rising," said the Macedonian committeeman, "is to win reform which will assure to the Christian population of Macedonia security for their lives and property, and the right to participate in the administration of the country."

At is reported that in several villages of the vilayet of Ohrida, the Bulgarians have risen against their Turkish neighbors and have massacred them. A Bulgarian band, 1,400 strong, is threatening the bridge at Lagosta, on the Monastir railway.

COMMENDS GOVERNOR DURBIN.

President Roosevelt Also Expresses His Views on Lynching.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 10.—In a letter, the publication of which was authorized today, President Roosevelt commends Governor Durbin of Indiana for the attitude he assumed recently respecting lynching. The president also embraces the opportunity to express his own views in reference to lynching and mob violence generally, pointing out that mob violence is merely one form of anarchy, and that anarchy is the forerunner of tyranny. The president vigorously urges that the penalty for crimes that induce a resort to lynching shall be applied swiftly and surely, but by due process of the courts, so that it may be demonstrated "that the law is adequate to deal with crime by freeing it from every vestige of technicality and delay."

After commending Governor Durbin for his course, President Roosevelt says:

"All honorable men must feel the gravest alarm over the growth of lynching in this country, especially over the peculiarly hideous form so often taken by mob violence when colored men are the victims, on which occasions the mob seems to lay most weight not on the crime, but on the color of the criminal."

The president says that some of the crimes leading to lynching are so horrible that the criminal forfeits the right to sympathy. In cases of this kind, he says, it devolves upon the colored people of the land to express paramount horror at the deed and endeavor to prevent its recurrence.

HORSE RUNS AWAY.

Wisconsin Woman Killed and Her Child and Husband Injured.

Watertown, Wis., Aug. 10.—As the result of a runaway at Richwood Sunday, Louis Walkert, of this place, was seriously injured and his wife was killed instantly, and their child fatally injured. They were on a visit to friends and the horse ran away, dashing into a tree and wire fence, throwing both out.

ESCAPE FROM JAIL.

Six Men Break Out of Prison and Two Are Soon Caught.

Butte, Mont., Aug. 10.—Six men escaped from the county jail here Sunday morning. Charles Lenox and James Main, convicted of murder; L. L. Feller, tried twice for murder; J. R. Woods and Patrick Rodgers, held for robbery, and Frank Cestoff, wanted in Cheyenne for holding up a stage coach. Cestoff and Rodgers, who planned the outbreak, were caught within an hour. Two posers are now in pursuit of the other fugitives.

HAD FUSE AND DYNAMITE.

Two Men Arrested for Attempting to Wreck Trains in Montana.

Helena, Mont., Aug. 10.—James Javes, a halfbreed Mexican Indian, and Henry Stadtz, are under arrest here on suspicion of being implicated in the attempts a few days ago to dynamite bridges on the Northern Pacific near Bozeman and Livingston. In the possession of one of the men was found dynamite cartridges and fuse of the same sort as was used on the bridge at Livingston.

BAD HAIL STORM IN IOWA.

Corn Beaten Down and Some Live Stock Killed.

Sioux City, Ia., Aug. 10.—A terrific hail storm visited Northwestern Iowa about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, extending as far east as Hamilton county, and doing almost untold damage in some localities. Corn was stripped and beaten to the ground and some live stock was killed.

In Sioux City, the damage by hail and wind was very extensive.

COLONEL BRYAN IN A WRECK.

Severely Shaken Up, But Escapes Serious Injury.

St. Louis, Aug. 10.—W. J. Bryan was severely shaken up, but escaped injury in a small wreck on the Southern Railway near Mount Vernon, Ill., Sunday. While running at full speed, the train ran into an open switch, and was delayed several hours. Beyond a few bruises, none was injured.

Break Jail And Are Recaptured.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Aug. 10.—Tom Horn, murderer of Willis Nackell, and Jim McCord, murderer of Ben Minnick, broke jail Sunday morning, but were recaptured after a fight, in which Horn and Jailer Proctor were slightly wounded.

FIRES AT FRENCH PREMIER.

Alleged Anarchist Attempts to Assassinate M. Combes.

Marseilles, Aug. 10.—As Premier Combes was returning Sunday afternoon to the prefecture from a banquet given by the "Friendly Society of Teachers," at which M. Pelletan, minister of marine, and Henri Brisson, deputy for Marseilles, and a number of senators and deputies were present, two pistol shots were fired at the carriage in which he was riding. The premier was untouched and none of those accompanying him was hurt.

The attempt upon the life of the president of the ministry caused great excitement and the crowd pointed out to the police the author of the attempt, a man dressed in fisherman's clothes. His companion drew a knife, but the police quickly disarmed him.

The police had much difficulty in protecting the man who had fired the shots from the crowd. He struggled desperately, but was soon overcome, handcuffed and taken to the prefecture, where M. Combes had already arrived. The first interrogation of the prisoner took place in the presence of the premier. The man said his name was Sanviero Picolo. He spoke very bad French with a strong Italian accent. He denied that he had fired the shots, but when searched a revolver was found with two chambers recently fired. It is believed that Picolo and his companion, who had effected his escape during the confusion, are both dangerous anarchists.

LIFE CRUSHED OUT.

Minnesota Miner Perishes in Sight of Rescuing Party.

Duluth, Aug. 10.—John Magie, one of the two Finnish miners imprisoned by the cave-in at the Chisholm mine, Saturday evening, survived until the rescuing party reached him early Sunday morning, but before he could be taken out the timbers settled in a lesser cave-in and literally crushed out his life. The body, bruised beyond recognition, was extracted from the fatal pit seven hours later. The body of Matt Huodoe, his companion in death, has not been recovered.

Bituminous Coal in Minnesota.

Duluth, Aug. 10.—Discoveries of a considerable quantity of high-grade bituminous coal on the Little Fork river, on Venus island, below Twenty-mile rapids, by William Ellis, a settler living near there, has caused a revival of the rumors of large and profitable beds in Northern Minnesota.

Steamer Engineer Killed.

Milwaukee, Aug. 10.—The dead body of Walter Bates, second engineer of the steamer Georgia, was found lying face downward on the grating of the engine room floor of that boat Sunday. It is thought part of the machinery struck him a crushing blow on the head.

Dies While Awaiting Trial.

Milwaukee, Aug. 10.—James Tobin, who was to be arraigned at the next term of the municipal court for the murder of his aged wife in their home in Granville Center, July 19, was found dead in his cell in the county jail Sunday. Death was due to old age.

The people in the basilica had meantime become impatient and when the gleaming cross which preceded the cortege was seen it was greeted with great applause. On the appearance of the pontiff himself it seemed as though the people would seek to carry him in their arms, so great was their enthusiasm. Cries of "Pius, our pope, our father," and "Long live Pius X" were raised, notwithstanding the large placards posted all over the basilica saying: "Acclamations are forbidden." Leaflets to the same effect were distributed among the crowd.

The cries continued until the pontiff was compelled to rise and bless the multitude, and at the same time he made a sign for more reverent behavior. Silence was obtained when the choir announced its entrance with the resounding notes of the "ecce sacerdos magnus," accompanied by the sweet notes of silver trumpets.

"Sic Transit Gloria Mundi."

A quaint ceremony was then carried out. The master of the ceremonies knelt three times before the pontiff, each time lighting a handful of hemp which surmounted a silver torch, and as the flame flashed and then died out he chanted "pater sancte, sic transit gloria mundi" (holly Father, thus passeth away the glory of the world).

The procession then proceeded, the pope's face meanwhile illuminated by a smile. At the chapel of the sacrament his holiness left the sedia gestatoria and prayed at the altar. On re-entering the chair he was carried to the chapel of St. Gregory, where he officiated at a mass, being assisted by Cardinals Macchi, Di Pitero, Segna and Vannutelli. Then all the cardinals donned their silver copes and white mitres and the pope was borne to the throne amid renewed exclamations.

The scene presented on his mounting the throne formed a magnificent picture. The central figure was the venerable pontiff, seated on the throne. Two lines of cardinals clad in silver and scarlet reached to the high altar with its burden of burning candles and sacred vessels, while around stood the papal guards, the pontifical court, monks and officials. The cathedral was illuminated with twinkling lights, while the marble columns and walls rendered the color scheme more vivid. Overhead was the most magnificent dome in the world, up to which floated the harmony of the music.

Called Forth Enthusiasm.

From the throne Pius X, surrounded by his suite, walked to the high altar, standing over the crypt of St. Peter's. The appearance of the pope in that elevated position called forth another burst of enthusiasm. The pope then blessed the altar, and after saying the "Indulgentiam," the maniples, a symbol of the cord with which Christ was bound on his capture, was placed, with great ceremony, upon the pope's arm. At the same time prayers for the coronation were recited by four cardinals. Cardinal Macchi placed upon the shoulders of the pope the pontifical pallium and attached it with three golden jeweled pins.

Mass was then celebrated with great pomp and ceremony, the voice of the pope becoming gradually more firm and sonorous until it was even audible in the most distant corner of the immense church. Following this Cardinal Macchi performed the rite of incensing the pope, whom he subsequently kissed three times on the cheeks and chest as did Cardinals Segna and Vannutelli. Upon the pope's return to the throne the cardinals offered their last obedience to the pontiff, kissing his hand and feet, and being embraced by him twice in turn. The bishops and archbishops kissed his foot and right knee, while the abbots kissed only his foot. The holy father then walked to the shrine of St. Peter for the culminating rites of the

Extremely Fatiguing Ceremony.

The whole sacred college gathered about the pope singing Palestine's "Corona Aurea Super Caput Ejus," while the choir burst forth into song. Cardinal Macchi then recited the "Pater Noster" and offered a short prayer.

Cardinal Deacon Segna then raised the pontiff's mitre and Senior Cardinal Deacon Macchi placed on the venerable white head the triple crown. At this moment the church was filled with the ringing of bells, the blowing of silver trumpets, the triumphant strains of the choir and the exclamations of the multitude, which could no longer be repressed.

When comparative silence had been restored Cardinal Macchi addressed the pope in Latin, as follows:

"Receive the tiara ornamented with three crowns. Remember thou art the father of princes and kings, the rector of the world, the vicar on earth of our Saviour, Jesus Christ, who is the honor and glory of all centuries."

"Amen," burst forth from the concourse.

Pope Pius was quite overcome and had scarcely strength left to impart the apostolic benediction. Cardinals Macchi and Segna granted a plenary indulgence to all present, and the procession then re-formed and left the basilica in the same form as it came.

The pope was visibly fatigued and his right hand shook as he raised it time after time to bestow his blessing.

When the ceremony was over all the exits to the basilica were opened and within less than an hour the vast cathedral was empty.

Ordeal Was Very Trying.

Strong as Pius X is physically, he supported the ordeal of his coronation perhaps with less fortitude than did Leo XIII when he was crowned, although the latter was merely a shadow of a man. But he possessed a will which nothing could break. Sunday evening, when the pontiff received the Duke of Parma, he said to him:

"Not counting the election, today was the most tremendous experience of my life. I must find a way to stop the noise in the church. It is an offense against religion."

Besides Cardinal Gibbons, there were present at the ceremony Mgr. Kennedy, and the entire American college party, the archbishop of Manila, Mgr. O'Connell, Rev. Charles P. Granahan, Father Walz, Father John E. Burke, Father E. W. Fowler of Sioux City, Ia., and Father Thomas B. Donovan.

No place was specially reserved for the family of the pope, the only member of his family present being his nephew, Parolin, who is a parish priest.

At night all the churches and religious institutions and in addition many private houses were illuminated in honor of the occasion.

The pontiff was so fatigued by the ceremony that he has postponed the meeting of the consistory which was to have been held today.

Sixteen Persons Hurt.

Cincinnati, Aug. 10.—By the collision of electric cars on the Cincinnati and Eastern Interurban line Sunday between Mount Washington and Bethel, O., two crowded cars were badly damaged and sixteen persons hurt, four very seriously.

BURN CAPTIVES ALIVE

MUSSULMANS ARE ALARMED

TURKISH GOVERNMENT TAKING EVERY MEASURE TO SUPPRESS REVOLT.

Constantinople, Aug. 10.—Late dispatches from Hilmi Pasha, inspector general of the reform movement, announce the insurgents in large numbers in the district of Chisuri, Vilayet of Monastir, attacked the village of Djivarek, near Kastoria and massacred the inhabitants, including women and children, and then ferociously attacked neighboring villages, taking many captives, some of whom were burned alive. Some Greek peasants were also killed in one of the Kazis of the vilayet of Monastir, and in the vilayet of Ohrida insurgents likewise attacked some Mussulman villages.

They everywhere displayed rage and ferocity, and the Mussulman inhabitants were greatly terrorized.

The government is taking every measure possible to suppress the rising. Eight more battalions have been ordered to the vilayet of Monastir.

M. Maurocordato, the Greek minister, has made representations to the porte on behalf of the Greek subjects.

M. Rostkovski, the Russian consul at Monastir, it turns out, was murdered Saturday morning by a Cypriot, a member of the Turkish police, who was on duty outside the consulate. The assassin was arrested. Said Pasha, the grand vizier and Tewfik Pasha, minister of foreign affairs, called on the Russian ambassador, M. Zinovief, and expressed the government's deep regret over the occurrence.

The insurgents held the town of Krushovo, twenty-three miles north of Monastir, for two days and only withdrew after severe fighting with the Turkish troops in which 160 were killed on both sides.

WILL FIGHT TO THE DEATH. Macedonians Will Gain Reform or Perish in the Attempt.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Aug. 10.—"Nothing can end the present revolution in Macedonia until our national aspirations are satisfied or those fighting to attain them are exterminated."

This was the concluding sentence of a statement made to a special correspondent who is investigating the situation in Macedonia, by the Macedonian committee at the revolutionary headquarters here.

"The object of the rising," said the Macedonian committeeman, "is to win reform which will assure to the Christian population of Macedonia security for their lives and property, and the right to participate in the administration of the country."

At it reported that in several villages of the vilayet of Ohrida, the Bulgarians have risen against their Turkish neighbors and have massacred them. A Bulgarian band, 1,400 strong, is threatening the bridge at Lagosta, on the Monastir railway.

COMMENDS GOVERNOR DURBIN.

President Roosevelt Also Expresses His Views on Lynching.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 10.—In a letter, the publication of which was authorized today, President Roosevelt commends Governor Durbin of Indiana for the attitude he assumed recently respecting lynching. The president also embraces the opportunity to express his own views in reference to lynching and mob violence generally, pointing out that mob violence is merely one form of anarchy, and that anarchy is the forerunner of tyranny.

The president vigorously urges that the penalty for crimes that induce a resort to lynching shall be applied swiftly and surely, but by due process of the courts, so that it may be demonstrated "that the law is adequate to deal with crime by freeing it from every vestige of technicality and delay."

After commending Governor Durbin for his course, President Roosevelt says:

"All honorable men must feel the gravest alarm over the growth of lynching in this country, especially over the peculiarly hideous form so often taken by mob violence when colored men are the victims, on which occasions the mob seems to lay most weight not on the crime, but on the color of the criminal."

The president says that some of the crimes leading to lynching are so horrible that the criminal forfeits the right to sympathy. In cases of this kind, he says, it devolves upon the colored people of the land to express paramount horror at the deed and endeavor to prevent its recurrence.

FIRES AT FRENCH PREMIER.

Alleged Anarchist Attempts to Assassinate M. Combes.

Marseilles, Aug. 10.—As Premier Combes was returning Sunday afternoon to the prefecture from a banquet given by the "Friendly Society of Teachers," at which M. Pelletan, minister of marine, and Henri Brisson, deputy for Marseilles, and a number of senators and deputies were present, two pistol shots were fired at the carriage in which he was riding. The premier was untouched and none of those accompanying him was hurt.

The attempt upon the life of the president of the ministry caused great excitement and the crowd pointed out to the police the author of the attempt, a man dressed in fisherman's clothes. His companion drew a knife, but the police quickly disarmed him. The police had much difficulty in protecting the man who had fired the shots from the crowd. He struggled desperately, but was soon overcome, handcuffed and taken to the prefecture, where M. Combes had already arrived. The first interrogation of the prisoner took place in the presence of the premier. The man said his name was Sanviero Picolo. He spoke very bad French with a strong Italian accent. He denied that he had fired the shots, but when searched a revolver was found with two chambers recently fired. It is believed that Picolo and his companion, who had effected his escape during the confusion, are both dangerous anarchists.

LIFE CRUSHED OUT.

Minnesota Miner Perishes in Sight of Rescuing Party.

Duluth, Aug. 10.—John Magie, one of the two Finnish miners imprisoned by the cave-in at the Chisholm mine, Saturday evening, survived until the rescuing party reached him early Sunday morning, but before he could be taken out the timbers settled in a lesser cavern and literally crushed out his life. The body, bruised beyond recognition, was extracted from the fatal pit seven hours later. The body of Matt Huodoe, his companion in death, has not been recovered.

Bituminous Coal in Minnesota.

Duluth, Aug. 10.—Discoveries of a considerable quantity of high-grade bituminous coal on the Little Fork river, on Venus island, below Twenty Mile rapids, by William Ellis, a settler living near there, has caused a revival of the rumors of large and profitable beds in Northern Minnesota.

MELVILLE'S BRAVERY.

How the Admiral Offered His Life to Ram a War Vessel.

An incident in the long service of Rear Admiral George W. Melville, former chief of the bureau of steam engineering, who recently retired, which began in 1861, when the admiral and three brothers entered the navy, stands out with great clearness in all accounts of his life, says the New York World. It was his plan for the destruction of the Confederate cruiser Florida in the harbor of Bahia, Brazil.

While Melville was serving on the Wachusett, which was refitting in the Brazilian port, the Florida came in and anchored within five-eighths of a mile of the anchorage of the Federal vessel. She cleared decks for action, but a Brazilian vessel got in between the belligerents and the Brazilian forts trained their guns upon the American ships.

The Florida, declined a challenge from the Wachusett to come outside and fight a duel. Thereupon Captain Collins of the Wachusett called a council of his officers, and it was decided that the way to dispose of the Confederate cruiser was to ram her while she lay at her anchorage. To this the objection was made that the shock of the impact would tear the boilers from their lashings and cause the death of every man below decks.

"I do not think the boilers will break loose," interposed young Melville, "but if they do there need be but one man sacrificed, for, after the engines are started, I can work them alone and will order all hands on deck."

In the preparation for the attack Melville volunteered and succeeded in going aboard the Florida and ascertaining the location of her machinery and the strength of her battery. This he did in a rowboat, and the Florida's officers of the deck seized him and threw him overboard with an injunction to get out or be shot.

At 2 a. m. Oct. 7, 1864, the Wachusett, with lights out, was under way. Below decks were only Melville and a fireman named Bradley, who refused to leave his post. The affair was all over in twenty minutes. Then a hawser was made fast to the Florida's foremast, and while the Brazilian forts were wasting ammunition in a perfunctory fire the Florida was towed out to sea. On the Wachusett only three men were wounded, Melville receiving a cut across the left hand.

AN ALL STEEL CAR.

Pennsylvania Railway Coach For Underground Use in New York.

The Pennsylvania railroad is building at its shops in Altoona, Pa., an entirely steel passenger car for use on its underground system in New York. The car is an experiment. It is fifty feet long, with a vestibule, but no steps, since the platform of the vestibule will be the same height as the platform of the stations. The only wood about the car is in the rattan seats, says the New York World.

The car is so built that it can be used not only on the Pennsylvania underground system, but on all other systems in New York. It will be heated by steam and equipped with air brakes and electric lights. The car runs on two trucks of four wheels each. The electricity will be generated from the axles of the car. The car is now on the wheels and will be turned out for a trial run in a few weeks.

A NEW INSOMNIA CURE.

Berlin Doctors Pronounce Veronal a Great Success.

German physicians are experimenting with great success with a new insomnia cure discovered recently by Professor Emil Fischer and his colleague, Professor Von Mering. The new remedy is called veronal, says the Berlin correspondent of the Philadelphia Press.

Professor Lillenfeld, who has used it with great success in one of the hospitals at Berlin, expresses the conviction that no other medicine to produce sleep approaches veronal in certainty and intensity. He administered 450 doses to sixty patients of both sexes and various ages. Each morning after the dose the patient was fresh and felt as if the sleep had been wholly natural. In all of the experimental cases the heart and lungs performed their functions with the utmost exactitude.

COMMISSION WENT TO WALKER TODAY

THEY WILL LOOK OVER GROUNDS

And Will Then Make Recommendations—Hope that Government Will Pay For Site.

Drs. Taylor, of St. Paul, Williamson, of Minneapolis, and Weisser, of New Ulm, members of the commission, appointed by the governor to look into the feasibility of establishing a sanatorium for consumptives at Walker, passed through the city this afternoon en route north. They will be joined by Dr. Camp, of this city, at Merrifield, where he was called on professional business, and Dr. Wattam, of Warren, another member of the commission, will come to Walker by the way of the Great Northern.

The commission goes to Walker at this time to look over the ground with a view of selecting a site for the proposed sanatorium, after which they will make recommendations.

Dr. Taylor, in speaking of the matter at the N. P. depot this afternoon, stated that contrary to the reports of some of the papers, the commission was not going up just now to lay the corner stone. He said there would be several matters to be considered before the site would be definitely decided upon. "It is true that an effort will be made to have the government buy the site," he said, "for the $25,000 appropriated by the legislature will be little enough to build and equip a sanatorium that would be at all adequate to meet the requirements."

The gentlemen will spend several days at Walker looking over the various sites now in mind.

A Story of the General's Ambition Recalled by His Retirement.

Appropos of the retirement of General Nelson A. Miles from the command of the United States army, an interview is recalled which occurred some years ago, in which the general told a story to illustrate his attitude on the question of being a candidate for the presidency. He was then stationed on a western frontier, and was approached by the representative of an eastern paper, who said:

"They say in the east that you are aiming for the presidency."

"Do they?" the general replied. "Well, we won't take much time for an interview on that subject. The thing reminds me of an experience that a scout had in the old days when we were fighting the Cheyennes in 1875. That scout was a clubfooted Frenchman, a plucky, good fellow too. He had to make his way from Fort Keough to a cantonment on the Missouri, and the Cheyennes were after him. They pushed him like Satan, and after a time his horse gave out, and he had to hoof it. Well, it was a rough, bad country, and his poor clubfoot slipped and stumbled and slid so that his trail must have been something awful to contemplate. An Indian can read marks in the ground as well as you and I can read a book, but they had never dogged a clubfoot before. He got into the cantonment all right, and pretty soon the Cheyennes came along. They pointed to the trail and asked our people to look at them. 'We can't make out which way that fellow was going,' said they. Now, that's the case with these people who busy themselves about me. They don't know anything about me, and they can't find out."

After a pause General Miles turned his head and spoke a few words over his shoulder. "My only ambition is to command brave men," said he, "and I've been doing that for thirty years."

New Society Sport in Paris.

The sport of the hour in Paris is taking place in a modern drawing room, says the Gentlewoman. The hostess, a well known woman of letters, invites two scientists, academicians, litterateurs of opposed views, acquaints them with a subject for discussion and seats them in the center of the room. The guests crowd around at a respectful distance and assist at the fight with many marks of encouragement. Bets are made, although it is not easy to decide which is the victor.

A New Poe Statue For Baltimore.

Jose de Charnoy, a French sculptor, twenty-three years old, who gained much praise for the artistic world by his statues for the tombs of Baudelaire and St. Beuve, has finished a statue of Edgar Allan Poe for the city of Baltimore, says a Paris correspondent to the New York World. It represents two steps. On the second step lies the body of the poet, escaped from the burial ceremonies. One man looks down at the body with horrified face. The other raises an imploring look toward heaven. The effect is very dramatic and modern in interpretation.

MELVILLE'S BRAVERY.

An incident in the long service of Rear Admiral George W. Melville, former chief of the bureau of steam engineering, who recently retired, which began in 1861, when the admiral and three brothers entered the navy, stands out with great clearness in all accounts of his life, says the New York World. It was his plan for the destruction of the Confederate cruiser Florida in the harbor of Bahia, Brazil.

While Melville was serving on the Wachusett, which was refitting in the Brazilian port, the Florida came in and anchored within five-eighths of a mile of the anchorage of the Federal vessel. She cleared decks for action, but a Brazilian vessel got in between the belligerents and the Brazilian forts trained their guns upon the American ships.

The Florida, declined a challenge from the Wachusett to come outside and fight a duel. Thereupon Captain Collins of the Wachusett called a council of his officers, and it was decided that the way to dispose of the Confederate cruiser was to ram her while she lay at her anchorage. To this the objection was made that the shock of the impact would tear the boilers from their lashings and cause the death of every man below decks.

"I do not think the boilers will break loose," interposed young Melville, "but if they do there need be but one man sacrificed, for after the engines are started, I can work them alone and will order all hands on deck."

In the preparation for the attack Melville volunteered and succeeded in going aboard the Florida and ascertaining the location of her machinery and the strength of her battery. This he did in a rowboat, and the Florida's officers of the deck seized him and threw him overboard with an injunction to get out or be shot.

At 2 a. m. Oct. 7, 1864, the Wachusett, with lights out, was under way. Below decks were only Melville and a fireman named Bradley, who refused to leave his post. The affair was all over in twenty minutes. Then a bawler was made fast to the Florida's foremast, and while the Brazilian forts were wasting ammunition in a perfunctory fire the Florida was towed out to sea. On the Wachusett only three men were wounded, Melville receiving a cut across the left hand.

AN ALL STEEL CAR.

Pennsylvania Railway Coach For Underground Use in New York.

The Pennsylvania railroad is building at its shops in Altoona, Pa., an entirely steel passenger car for use on its underground system in New York. The car is an experiment. It is fifty feet long, with a vestibule, but no steps, since the platform of the vestibule will be the same height as the platform of the stations. The only wood about the car is in the rattan seats, says the New York World.

The car is so built that it can be used not only on the Pennsylvania underground system, but on all other systems in New York. It will be heated by steam and equipped with air brakes and electric lights. The car runs on two trucks of four wheels each. The electricity will be generated from the axles of the car. The car is now on the wheels and will be turned out for a trial run in a few weeks.

A NEW INSOMNIA CURE.

Berlin Doctors Pronounce Veronal a Great Success.

German physicians are experimenting with great success with a new insomnia cure discovered recently by Professor Emil Fischer and his colleague, Professor Von Mering. The new remedy is called veronal, says the Berlin correspondent of the Philadelphia Press.

Professor Lillenfeld, who has used it with great success in one of the hospitals at Berlin, expresses the conviction that no other medicine to produce sleep approaches veronal in certainty and intensity. He administered 450 doses to sixty patients of both sexes and various ages. Each morning after the dose the patient was fresh and felt as if the sleep had been wholly natural. In all of the experimental cases the heart and lungs performed their functions with the utmost exactitude.

COMMISSION WENT TO WALKER TODAY

THEY WILL LOOK OVER GROUNDS

And Will Then Make Recommendations--Hope that Government Will Pay For Site.

Drs. Taylor, of St. Paul, Williamson, of Minneapolis, and Weisser, of New Ulm, members of the commission, appointed by the governor to look into the feasibility of establishing a sanatorium for consumptives at Walker, passed through the city this afternoon en route north. They will be joined by Dr. Camp, of this city, at Merrifield, where he was called on professional business, and Dr. Wattam, of Warren, another member of the commission, will come to Walker by the way of the Great Northern.

The commission goes to Walker at this time to look over the ground with a view of selecting a site for the proposed sanatorium, after which they will make recommendations.

Dr. Taylor, in speaking of the matter at the N. P. depot this afternoon, stated that contrary to the reports of some of the papers, the commission was not going up just now to lay the corner stone. He said there would be several matters to be considered before the site would be definitely decided upon. "It is true that an effort will be made to have the government buy the site," he said, "for the $25,000 appropriated by the legislature will be little enough to build and equip a sanatorium that would be at all adequate to meet the requirements."

The gentlemen will spend several days at Walker looking over the various sites now in mind.

A Story of the General's Ambition Recalled by His Retirement.

Apocryphal of the retirement of General Nelson A. Miles from the command of the United States army, an interview is recalled which occurred some years ago, in which the general told a story to illustrate his attitude on the question of being a candidate for the presidency. He was then stationed on a western frontier, and was approached by the representative of an eastern paper, who said:

"They say in the east that you are aiming for the presidency."

"Do they?" the general replied. "Well, we won't take much time for an interview on that subject. The thing reminds me of an experience that a scout had in the old days when we were fighting the Cheyennes in 1875. That scout was a clubfooted Frenchman, a plucky, good fellow too. He had to make his way from Fort Keogh to a cantonment on the Missouri, and the Cheyennes were after him. They pushed him like Satan, and after a time his horse gave out, and he had to hoof it. Well, it was a rough, bad country, and his poor clubfoot slipped and stumbled and slid so that his trail must have been something awful to contemplate. An Indian can read marks in the ground as well as you and I can read a book, but they had never dogged a clubfoot before. He got into the cantonment all right, and pretty soon the Cheyennes came along. They pointed to the trail and asked our people to look at them. 'We can't make out which way that fellow was going,' said they. Now, that's the case with these people who busy themselves about me. They don't know anything about me, and they can't find out."

After a pause General Miles turned his head and spoke a few words over his shoulder. "My only ambition is to command brave men," said he, "and I've been doing that for thirty years."

New Society Sport in Paris.

The sport of the hour in Paris is taking place in a modern drawing room, says the Gentlewoman. The hostess, a well known woman of letters, invites two scientists, academicians, litterateurs of opposed views, acquaints them with a subject for discussion and seats them in the center of the room. The guests crowd around at a respectful distance and assist at the fight with many marks of encouragement. Bets are made, although it is not easy to decide which is the victor.

A New Poe Statue For Baltimore.

Jose de Charnoy, a French sculptor, twenty-three years old, who gained much praise from the artistic world by his statues for the tombs of Baudelaire and St. Beuve, has finished a statue of Edgar Allan Poe for the city of Baltimore, says a Paris correspondent to the New York World. It represents two steps. On the second step lies the body of the poet, escaped from the burial ceremonies. One man looks down at the body with horrified face. The other raises an imploring look toward heaven. The effect is very dramatic and modern in interpretation.

THEY WERE SOLEMN AND IMPRESSIVE

All That was Mortal of John F. Murphy Laid to Rest in Evergreen Yesterday.

FLORAL CONTRIBUTION PROFUSE

Members of the Orders to Which Deceased Belonged Turned Out in Large Numbers.

The beautiful and impressive funeral services for John F. Murphy were conducted yesterday afternoon from St. Francis Catholic church, and although there was an unusually large turnout of the members of the various orders to which deceased belonged and other friends, there was a certain simplicity about the whole which made it the more impressive. There was a touching appropriateness about the arrangements for the funeral which suggested the life the deceased had lived, a man who had to enemies and who was full of good deeds performed in an unostentatious manner.

The gathering of the friends was the largest seen at a funeral in this city in long time, and it included people of all beliefs, creeds and denominations. It so included in large number members of the different orders to which John F. Murphy had belonged and also those with whom he had been closely associated through life.

At 2 o'clock the members of the A. O. H., B. P. O. E. and Brainerd Aerie, F. O. E., three of the principal lodges to which the deceased belonged, met at their respective halls and formed lines, marching to the late home where they viewed for the last time all that was mortal of John F. Murphy and that portion which was about to be consigned to earth. There were in all two hundred men in line, members of the different orders referred to above. After they had viewed the remains at the residence the body was borne to St. Francis church where very simple yet profoundly impressive services were held. The choir sang "Lead Kindly Light," after which Rev. D. W. Lynch delivered a very eloquent and touching funeral sermon. He dwelt on the great question of service to God on earth and its ultimate reward when the day of judgment comes. It was full of good thought, powerfully expressed and could not but help touch the hearts of all. He spoke of the good in the life of the deceased and commented on the fact that he left not an enemy.

The casket at the church was placed immediately in front of the chancel, and it was completely surrounded by great masses of flowers, which are artistically placed about the altar and chancel, sent by friends and relatives to express silently but eloquently a loving memory. The odor from the beautiful collections permeated every portion of the large edifice. The large and commodious church was filled to overflowing, the seats in the center of the building being almost entirely occupied by members of the orders.

The pall bearers were the following old time friends of the deceased: Alfred Q. Parker, Albert A. Finn, F. J. Murphy, J. J. Nolan, P. J. McKeon and H. P. Dunn.

The honorary pall bearers from the A. O. H. were: J. F. McGinnis, J. P. Early, E. J. Donahue, J. F. Hawkins, Thos. Willis and Edward Cullen. The A. O. H. members acted as an escort while the funeral train moved to the cemetery. The ushers at the church were Clem Ady, Will Koop and John Cullen. The procession was one of the longest ever seen in this city and the cemetery was crowded with friends of the deceased and family.

The interment was at Evergreen cemetery. The grave was beautifully lined with sweet peas, the work having been artistically done by Mrs. Werner Hemstead, and the Misses Rose Koop, Sophia Moe, Anna Grossman and Earnest Jones.

The following was the list of beautiful flowers sent by friends and relatives:

Family, large pillow, lilies, roses and carnations, (At Rest); P. E. Murphy and daughter, St. Paul, large pillow, lilies, roses and carnations, (John); friends from St. Paul, beautiful large harp, roses lilies and astors; A. O. AITKIN CLEANED UP

By Brainerd in a Fairly Good Game Played Yesterday Afternoon at Aitkin--The Score was 10 to 5.

Brainerd, 10; Aitkin, 5. Brainerd and Aitkin played a fairly fast game of ball yesterday under trying conditions. The grounds were very wet and it rained about every other inning.

Aitkin with their new battery has a pretty fast bunch but the batting of the Brainerd team in the first three innings, when the ball was dry, was something fierce, as usual. It is surprising that a bunch of mere kids can hit so well. Eddie Boyle carried off the batting honors with four hits marked up to his credit. Something also should be said about the fielding of several of Brainerd's team. Dickie Ryan make two sensational catches of swift line drives, that the Aitkinites said had never been equalled on their diamond. On one of the catches he made a beautiful double play. Chris Senti also made a sensational catch off Joe Deschane's long drive to right field. The battery work of Boyle and Roderick deserves special mention.

Gene Merrill made a nice catch in left field. While running for a short fly over third base, he slipped in the mud and reaching out caught the ball with one hand amid the loud applause of the grandstand. Throwing the ball to third base he completed a double play.

Aitkin played a fast game in the field but their hitting was weak. They only made five hits off Boyle. Robbers on third base and Williams on first played very fast ball.

The umpiring of Yates and Dressen was A. No. 1 and deserves special mention.

Following is the summary of the game:

Deputy Game Warden Saunders Captures First Victim of Season in Person of John Liljendahl.

John Liljendahl, the popular Laurel street blacksmith, went into the country yesterday afternoon to "try out" a four-months old pup. The pup worked fine and snorted at a covey of chickens, and when they were raised John could not resist the temptation of just trying the old gun. He got a bird, and Deputy Game Warden Saunders got him, so this morning he appeared in police court and swelled the exchequer to the extent of $10 for the little offense. The chicken season is not ripe yet, and the new law is a pretty severe one. The game warden does not have to see a man with a chicken in his possession, but if he has sufficient evidence that a man is out after the birds he has the authority to arrest him.

Yesterday by Vice Grand Master T. R. Dodge with Good Charter Membership.

GOOD ATTENDANCE AT MEETING

Jurisdiction Over M. & I. Switch-Crews and Crews of Trains Nos. 59 and 60.

Yesterday afternoon a new order of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen was organized in this city, to be known as Brainerd lodge 683, with a charter membership of twenty-seven.

The new order was launched by Vice Grand Master T. R. Dodge, of Chicago, who arrived in the city yesterday noon from Duluth, where he had been entertained by the members of the order of that city Saturday and Saturday evening. The Duluth degree team assisted in the work and the officers of the order included such well known trainmen as Conductors Harris and Brewer, and Messrs. John Murphy and P. McHugh. There were several other trainmen from Duluth present, nine in all, and they assisted in the work of organizing the lodge.

The order in Brainerd has jurisdiction over the Minnesota & International, the switching crews in the N. P. yards in this city and the crews of Nos. 59 and 60 running between this city and Staples.

After the work was completed there was a banquet tendered the visiting members of the order in the hall and it proved a very sumptuous affair. An address of special interest to the new members was delivered by Mr. Dodge and a social hour followed.

Great Dairy Display.

Interest in northwestern buttermaking will draw to the Minnesota State Fair of 1903 a most complete display of dairy apparatus as well as a large amount of butter in competition or the liberal prizes offered by the state fair management. A. W. Trow, of Glenville, is superintendent of the department and is making every effort to have the exhibition the best ever seen in the country. Competition is keen and some high scoring is looked for. Manufacturers of dairy apparatus are struggling for the space in the dairy building. It will be crowded with the latest things. This year the fair will open on August 31 and continue until Saturday, Sept. 5.

"HUNTING FOR HAWKINS."

Laughter or tears—Should this question be put to a vote to the theatre-going public there is not the slightest doubt that the result would be overwhelming in favor of the former. Comedians are more entertaining than those who assume the serious roles, their art appeals to a wider constituency, since in its search for recreation, the world easily prefers laughter to tears.

One of the greatest comedies written for laughing purposes is "Hunting for Hawkins," and one of the most successful delineators of legitimate comedy is Stephen Fitzpatrick, the quaint comedian—his humor is contagious, his audience never grows weary, he never resorts to the devices sometimes indulged in by comedians—but prefers to win the esteem of his audience by legitimate means. The supporting company is composed of well known artists, and the specialties introduced during the play are of a high order. "Hunting for Hawkins" will be seen at the Brainerd theatre Thursday Aug. 13.

HOYT'S "A TEXAS STEER."

Hoyt's, "A Texas Steer" comes to the Brainerd theatre Friday August 14th. Little need be said in praise of this famous comedy, for it has long been recognized as the satirical masterpiece from the pen of Chas. H. Hoyt. But importance is given to the engagement, when it is announced that the company is an exceptionally brilliant one including Jas. R. Devlin who has been with the Hoyt attractions for years, and plays "Maverick Brander," the original and only Milt G. Barlow as the "Minister from Dahomey," May Bretonne, a charming actress as "Bossy" Will T. Chatterton is the "Major Yell," Wm. Marble, Jr. "Brassy Gall," the famous Texas Steer Quartette who are still introducing sweet melodies and there are numerous other clever people in the cast.

EASILY DECIDED.

This Question Should be Answered Easily by Brainerd People.

Which is wiser—to have confidence in the opinions of your fellow citizens, of people you know, or depend upon statements made by utter strangers, residing in far-away places? Read the following:

Mr. F. J. Hagadorn, of 123 Ninth St., north, says: "For thirty years I had more or less trouble with my kidneys. Some attacks laid me up while during others my back ached so severely that I could not sleep at night nor work during the day. On many occasions I could not stand and talk to a man for two or three minutes without suffering with twinges across the small of my back which radiated toward the shoulders. As time passed by the complaint became more pronounced and difficulty with the kidney secretions set in. As might be expected I tried everything when the attacks occurred to check them, but if I had met with any marked degree of success I never would have resorted to Doan's Kidney Pills.

"When suffering severely I went to a drug store and got a box. I expected the result would be similar to those obtained by using other preparations. In twenty-four hours I changed my mind. I noticed they were acting totally different to anything hitherto tried, and encouraged I kept on with the treatment until I finished two boxes. Now I may have recurrences but at the present moment, and it is sometime since I stopped the treatment, I have not a symptom of my old complaint. To anyone interested I will be only too pleased to give a minute detail and substantiate the above statement in a personal interview."

A NEW RAIN PRODUCER.

Australia Has Up a Column of Gas From Three Centers.

The latest Australian newspapers contain particulars of some experiments which are said to have been more or less successful of a novel method of producing a downfall of rain. The inventor makes this statement:

"I claim to produce rain by sending up continuously from three centers a column of gas made of certain chemicals. The gas, if sent up for a maximum of thirty-two hours, will produce rain over a range of ninety miles at any altitude, with any sky and with the wind from any quarter. I do not need to wait until the wind is from the usually rainy quarter. In one experiment I made the barometric conditions were quite unfavorable, yet I produced rain. The gas, you see, causes a vacuum. This vacuum is the center of a heat storm and is filled by dense clouds that contain rain. These clouds come down with the gravity of the earth, when the rain descends.

"The rain is different from ordinary rain found in districts in which experiments have been made. It is a tropical rain, coming from the very lofty regions, being slight at first and then later descending in heavy showers and bucketfuls. My operations have been conducted in an inclosure 12 feet by 8 feet. Though I cannot, of course, give away my secret, I may tell you that the chemicals have to be changed in accordance with the conditions."

THEY WERE SOLEMN AND IMPRESSIVE

All That was Mortal of John F. Murphy Laid to Rest in Evergreen Yesterday.

Members of the Orders to Which Deceased Belonged Turned Out in Large Numbers.

The beautiful and impressive funeral services for John F. Murphy were conducted yesterday afternoon from St. Francis Catholic church, and although there was an unusually large turnout of the members of the various orders to which deceased belonged and other friends, there was a certain simplicity about the whole which made it the more impressive. There was a touching appropriateness about the arrangements for the funeral which suggested the life the deceased had lived, a man who had no enemies and who was full of good deeds performed in an unostentatious manner.

The gathering of the friends was the largest seen at a funeral in this city in long time, and it included people of all beliefs, creeds and denominations. It so included in large number members of the different orders to which John F. Murphy had belonged and also those with whom he had been closely associated through life.

At 2 o'clock the members of the A. O. H., B. P. O. E. and Brainerd Aerie, F. O. E., three of the principal lodges to which the deceased belonged, met at their respective halls and formed lines, marching to the late home where they viewed for the last time all that was mortal of John F. Murphy and that portion which was about to be consigned to earth. There were in all two hundred men in line, members of the different orders referred to above. After they had viewed the remains at the residence the body was borne to St. Francis church where very simple yet profoundly impressive services were held. The choir sang "Lead Kindly Light," after which Rev. D. W. Lynch delivered a very eloquent and touching funeral sermon. He dwelt on the great question of service to God on earth and its ultimate reward when the day of judgment comes. It was full of good thought, powerfully expressed and could not but help touch the hearts of all. He spoke of the good in the life of the deceased and commented on the fact that he left not an enemy.

The casket at the church was placed immediately in front of the chancel, and it was completely surrounded by great masses of flowers, which are artistically placed about the altar and chancel, sent by friends and relatives to express silently but eloquently a loving memory. The odor from the beautiful collections permeated every portion of the large edifice. The large and commodious church was filled to overflowing, the seats in the center of the building being almost entirely occupied by members of the orders.

The pall bearers were the following old time friends of the deceased: Alfred Q. Parker, Albert A. Finn, F. J. Murphy, J. J. Nolan, P. J. McKeon and H. P. Dunn.

The honorary pall bearers from the A. O. H. were: J. F. McGinnis, J. P. Early, E. J. Donahue, J. F. Hawkins, Thos. Willis and Edward Cullen. The A. O. H. members acted as an escort while the funeral train moved to the cemetery. The ushers at the church were Clem. Ady, Will Koop and John Cullen. The procession was one of the longest ever seen in this city and the cemetery was crowded with friends of the deceased and family.

The interment was at Evergreen cemetery. The grave was beautifully lined with sweet peas, the work having been artistically done by Mrs. Werner Hemstead, and the Misses Rose Koop, Sophia Moe, Anna Grossman and Earnest Jones.

The following was the list of beautiful flowers sent by friends and relatives:

Family, large pillow, lilies, roses and carnations, (At Rest); P. E. Murphy and daughter, St. Paul, large pillow, lilies, roses and carnations, (John); friends from St. Paul, beautiful large harp, roses, lilies and asters; A. O. H., large cross, pink and white roses and carnations; B. P. O. E., 615, hour glass, asters, roses and carnations; F. O. E., 287, gates ajar, roses, carnations and lilies; Royal Arcanum, large footed wreath, roses and lilies; Clerks' Union, large wreath with emblem, roses and lilies of pink and white; W. C. O. AITKIN CLEANED UP

By Brainerd in a Fairly Good Game Played Yesterday Afternoon at Aitkin--The Score was 10 to 5.

Brainerd, 10; Aitkin, 5. Brainerd and Aitkin played a fairly fast game of ball yesterday under trying conditions. The grounds were very wet and it rained about every other inning. Aitkin with their new battery has a pretty fast bunch but the batting of the Brainerd team in the first three innings, when the ball was dry, was something fierce, as usual. It is surprising that a bunch of mere kids can hit so well. Eddie Boyle carried off the batting honors with four hits marked up to his credit. Something also should be said about the fielding of several of Brainerd's team. Dickie Ryan made two sensational catches of swift line drives, that the Aitkinites said had never been equaled on their diamond. On one of the catches he made a beautiful double play. Chris Senti also made a sensational catch off Joe Deschane's long drive to right field. The battery work of Boyle and Roderick deserves special mention.

Gene Merrill made a nice catch in left field. While running for a short fly over third base, he slipped in the mud and reaching out caught the ball with one hand amid the loud applause of the grandstand. Throwing the ball to third base he completed a double play.

Aitkin played a fast game in the field but their hitting was weak. They only made five hits off Boyle. Robbers on third base and Williams on first played very fast ball.

The umpiring of Yates and Dressen was A No. 1 and deserves special mention.

Following is the summary of the game:

PAID TEN FOR A SMALL ONE.

Deputy Game Warden Saunders Captures First Victim of Season in Person of John Liljendahl.

John Liljendahl, the popular Laurel street blacksmith, went into the country yesterday afternoon to "try out" a four-months old pup. The pup worked fine and snorted at a covey of chickens, and when they were raised John could not resist the temptation of just trying the old gun. He got a bird, and Deputy Game Warden Saunders got him, so this morning he appeared in police court and swelled the exchequer to the extent of $10 for the little offense. The chicken season is not ripe yet, and the new law is a pretty severe one. The game warden does not have to see a man with a chicken in his possession, but if he has sufficient evidence that a man is out after the birds he has the authority to arrest him.

Yesterday by Vice Grand Master T. R. Dodge with Good Charter Membership.

GOOD ATTENDANCE AT MEETING

Jurisdiction Over M. & L. Switch-Crews and Crews of Trains Nos. 59 and 60.

Yesterday afternoon a new order of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen was organized in this city, to be known as Brainerd lodge 683, with a charter membership of twenty-seven.

The new order was launched by Vice Grand Master T. R. Dodge, of Chicago, who arrived in the city yesterday noon from Duluth, where he had been entertained by the members of the order of that city Saturday and Saturday evening. The Duluth degree team assisted in the work and the officers of the order included such well known trainmen as Conductors Harris and Brewer, and Messrs. John Murphy and P. McHugh. There were several other trainmen from Duluth present, nine in all, and they assisted in the work of organizing the lodge.

The order in Brainerd has jurisdiction over the Minnesota & International, the switching crews in the N. P. yards in this city and the crews of Nos. 59 and 60 running between this city and Staples.

After the work was completed there was a banquet tendered the visiting members of the order in the hall and it proved a very sumptuous affair. An address of special interest to the new members was delivered by Mr. Dodge and a social hour followed.

FIVE MORE ARE DEAD

VICTIMS OF THE COLLAPSE OF
A WALK AT PHILADELPHIA
NUMBER NINE.

GASOLINE LAUNCH ON FIRE

OCCUPANTS OF THE BOAT JUMP
OVERBOARD AND FOUR OF THEM DROWN.

Philadelphia, Aug. 10.—Five additional deaths occurred Sunday as the result of the accident Saturday at the Philadelphia National League baseball park, making a total of nine fatalities. Two hundred victims were treated at the various hospitals and it is believed that fully 100 more received attention at various drugstores in the vicinity of the baseball grounds. Of the injured still in the hospitals five are said to be in a critical condition. The list of dead is as follows:

Alfred Rodgers, sixty years; William J. Graham, twenty-six; Matthew P. Reed, fifty; George Cunningham, fifty; Joseph Edgar, forty-five; Nicholas Moses, fifty-five; Edward Williamson, thirty; Louis McGrath, twenty-eight; and an unknown man.

The physicians and nurses at the several hospitals to which the injured were conveyed worked unceasingly throughout Saturday night, securing no rest and taking but little nourishment.

Coroner Duncan Sunday began an investigation into the causes of the accident.

No date has been set for the inquests, but the coroner said they would be held within ten days.

Spectators at the game Saturday rushed to a walk overhanging the street, to see a fight. The walk collapsed, precipitating them to the street below.

No more games will be played for some time.

GASOLINE LAUNCH SINKS.

Four Young Men Drowned Near Rockland, Me.

Rockland, Me., Aug. 10.—Four young men of this city lost their lives Saturday night by the sinking of a gasoline launch off Ash Point, eight miles from here. Two of the party were saved. The dead are:

Henry K. Crocker, twenty-three years old; Frank F. Veazie, twenty-one; Raymond G. Hall, nineteen; Charles W. Holmes, twenty-three.

Oliver F. Hills and Thomas Hedges were saved.

The party started out in the launch for Pleasant Beach.

When off Ash Point at 9:40 o'clock the launch became entangled in a fish net. An attempt was made to turn back, when there was a flash, and the launch was enveloped in flames. The six occupants of the craft leaped overboard. They were within 1,000 feet of the shore, but Holmes and Crocker were unable to swim, and were drowned.

Hills and Hedges swam to a small boat and were rescued by fishermen. Veazie sank in trying to reach the boat and Hall sank with the burning launch.

Gasoline from the tank leaked into the body of the boat and ignited, causing the explosion.

SAILBOAT FILLS AND SINKS.

Four Youths Drowned in the Magaguadavic River.

St. John, N. B., Aug. 10.—Four youths lost their lives in the Magaguadavic river, about two miles below St. George, Sunday. The dead are: John Chambers, George Phillips, Guy Henry, and Gilbert Henry.

A fifth boy, Charles Chambers, swam ashore and was saved. The youths, who knew little about handling a sailboat, went sailing and a sudden squall tipped their boat, and she filled and sank.

FIVE ITALIANS DROWNED.

Accident Caused by the Capsizing of Their Boat.

Norway, Mich., Aug. 10.—Five Italians were drowned Sunday at Vulcan, twelve miles from Norway. The accident was caused by the capsizing of the boat containing the men, 100 yards from shore. All were single men, except one, who had a wife in Italy.

FOUR MEN DROWNED.

Sailboat Capsizes With Half a Dozen Persons Aboard.

Vallejo, Cal., Aug. 10.—A sailboat capsized Sunday between Vallejo and Benicia, with six men on board. Four were drowned, as follows:

H. Saloman, Emil Chelino, T. Hansen, and D. Wilson.

VICTIM OF JEALOUSY.

Mrs. Franz Killed by Her Husband, Who Dies Later of Poison.

Lancaster, Pa., Aug. 10.—A bride of four months, Mrs. Edgar H. Franz, aged nineteen years, is dead, slain by her husband, a well known young drug clerk of this city. Franz died later from the effects of morphine which he swallowed after firing two bullets into his wife. The woman was murdered in her sleep. Franz left a note in which he said they had agreed to die together, but from the note and other facts it is believed Mrs. Franz was the unsuspecting victim of her husband's jealousy.

BEHEADED HER CHILDREN.

Negro Woman Threw the Severed Members Into a Fire.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 10.—Lizzie Aiken, a negro woman forty years old, was committed to jail Sunday for beheading her two daughters, three and five years old. The heads were severed with an axe, and she threw them into a fire. The woman admitted the crime, saying she had received a message from God ordering the crime.

FAMOUS WOMAN SCOUT.

How "Calamity Jane" Got Her Name.

One of Her Daring Feats.

The late noted female character "Calamity Jane," who had been known on the western frontier since 1870, was christened Calamity Jane in 1872 by Captain Egan, then commander of the army post at Goose Creek, S. D., whose life she had saved, says the New York World. Captain Egan was shot from his horse by an Indian. The woman asked killed the Indian and, picking up the wounded officer, she placed him across her saddle and rode off to the fort under the fire of other Indians. When Captain Egan, who was unconscious at the time, learned the circumstances of his rescue, he said to his preserver:

"You are a good person to have around in time of calamity, and I christen you Calamity Jane, the heroine of the plains."

Buffalo Bill (Colonel Cody) tells the following story of Calamity Jane:

"In 1876 Jane, by a daring feat, saved the lives of six passengers on a stagecoach traveling from Deadwood, S. D., to Wild Birch, in the Black Hills country."

"The stage was surrounded by Indians, and the driver, Jack McCaul, was wounded by an arrow. Although the other six passengers were men, not one of them had nerve enough to take the reins. Seeing the situation, Jane mounted the driver's seat without a moment's hesitation and brought the stage safely and in good time to Wild Birch."

"Jack McCaul afterward recovered, and some time later, while in Deadwood, he assassinated Wild Bill, one of Calamity Jane's best friends. The murder was a cold blooded one, and it was the general opinion that lynching was only too mild for him. Calamity Jane was in the lead of the lynching party, and it was she that captured the desperado. She had left her rifle at home, but with a butcher's cleaver she held him up, and a very few minutes later McCaul's body was swinging from the limb of a cottonwood tree and his soul had passed over the great divide."

AN AUTOMOBILE YACHT.

Its Inventor Expects to Explore Florida Swamp in Novel Craft.

Destined for service both on land and water, the much discussed "automobile yacht" will soon be prepared to make its journey to the south, says the New York Herald. As far as both marine and terrestrial architecture are concerned the amphibious craft is not a thing to delight the eye, for it has lines which have never been considered beautiful.

Its inventor, Anton Schmidt, a cabinet maker of Newark, N. J., who built it, says that he is sure that it will do all that is required of it either in the water or on dry land and that soon he will make his arrangements to go to Florida, where he has been invited to explore a swamp. Near Ocala, he has been informed, there is a morass which incloses a more or less active sulphur volcano. Rank vegetation abounds on the outskirts of the region, and in the center there is an unexplored spot believed to abound in sulphurous fumes and salamanders.

The vessel has had a trial trip in the waters near Newark, and when all the machinery is placed in it he believes that within a few weeks he will reach the region which awaits his investigation.

This land and water craft, as Mr. Schmidt calls it, is forty-five feet in length, eight in beam and has a draught of three feet. Its total height is only a trifle more than six feet, just enough to permit a man to stand up inside. It has five wheels in all, two large ones at the side and one at each end and a small one beneath, which serves as a support when the craft is on dry land and as a means of propulsion when it is immersed. The greater part of the power will be applied to the side wheels.

The inventor thinks that the craft may easily proceed at the rate of six miles an hour on land and eight in water.

MELONS ON A PEACH TREE.

Uncle Billie Somers' New Idea For Annual Garden Freak.

If Uncle Billie Somers, who has a small truck farm at Churetown, near Pennsville, N. J., does not surprise his neighbors each season in growing something of the freakish nature he puts it down as a poor season, says the Philadelphia Press. Growing watermelons in boot legs, citrons in bed springs and squashes with inscriptions on them is his hobby, but this year he has succeeded in filling a peach tree with watermelons.

Surrounded with blushing peaches in one large tree several nearly ripe watermelons are hanging, or, rather, propped up, and the sight is a remarkable one.

Uncle Billie has always had watermelons at Christmas time. He has a knack of keeping them in good condition and generally invites his friends to the feast. He says when the time comes that he can't beat his neighbors with something new he is ready to quit.

A New Plan For Huckleberry Pickers.

William Gilbert, near New Paris, Ind., is running his twenty-five acre huckleberry marsh on a novel plan, says the Indianapolis News. Instead of giving the pickers a share of the berries Mr. Gilbert has invited the public to pay 25 cents admission to the marsh and pick as many berries as they can during their stay. At the opening of the marsh there were forty-six teams and 125 people awaiting entrance. People are flocking thither from all directions and are taking away immense quantities of berries, which are fine and plentiful.

ANECDOTES OF WHISTLER.

Late Artist's Treatment of a Sitter Who Annoyed Him.

It is told of the late James McNeill Whistler that upon a certain occasion he appeared at a dinner party with no tie on, says Harper's Weekly. A friend of his remonstrated.

"For heaven's sake, Whistler, you've forgotten your tie!"

"Not at all," he returned, "not at all! Why wear a tie? My white collar rises from my white shirt, which is fastened by a gold stud. Everything simple, excellent. Why put another white on top of that? I'm much better dressed than you!"

Whistler was unsparing to sitters who annoyed him—in fact, a sitting with him was an ordeal that it required courage to face. It is said that one man annoyed him horribly by saying at the end of each sitting:

"How about that ear, Mr. Whistler? Don't forget to finish that!"

At the last sitting, everything being done except this ear, Whistler said:

"Well, I think I am through. Now I'll sign it," which he did in a very solemn, important manner, as was his way.

"But my ear, Mr. Whistler! You aren't going to leave it that way?"

"Oh, you can put it in after you get home!"

Whistler's laxity in the matter of engagements was notorious. No one ever knew if he were coming or not to affairs. But his point of view is explained in his answer to a friend of his who knew that he had an engagement to dine with some swells in a distant part of London and who felt that it was most impolite for Whistler to offend them. It was growing late, and yet Whistler was painting away, madly, intently.

"My dear fellow," he said to him at last, "it is frightfully late, and you have to dine with Lady Such-a-One. Don't you think you'd better stop?"

"Stop!" fairly shrieked Whistler. "Stop, when everything is going so beautifully? Go and stuff myself with disgusting food when I can paint like this? Never! Never! Besides, they won't do anything until I sit there—they never do!" And the entire speech is most characteristic of the man.

EIGHTH ANNUAL REGATTA.

Milwaukee, the "Sidewalk" Yacht, Wins Her Race Easily.

Milwaukee, Aug. 8.—The eighth annual regatta of the Lake Michigan Yachting association opened auspiciously with over fifty flyers entered in the various events. The feature race of the morning was the Class 20, 2000s, known as the Canada cup class. Milwaukee, the "sidewalk" yacht built on inland lines and owned by Robert Nunnemacher, had everything her own way, winning with a mile to spare over Illinois, Prairie and Minota, which finished in the order named. The morning races were fifteen miles, or twice over a triangular course 2½ miles to the leg. The afternoon races were once around the course. The twenty-one-foot cabin class and the twenty-one-foot knock-about class were the features of the afternoon. In the former, La Rita went over the line first, gained on first leg 2½ minutes over Pilot, leaving Outlaw, Hoosier and Privateer following and finishing in the order named.

In the knock-about class, Cock Robin got over the line first, was blanketed by Badger after five minutes' sailing, the latter boat holding the lead to the finish. The distinctive feature in this race was the fact of Badger making better time than some of the boats in the cabin class which carried much more canvas.

Kansas Rivers Rising.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 10.—Heavy rains Sunday throughout the eastern and central portions of the state have caused all the streams to rise. The Smoky Hill, Blue and Solomon rivers are all high. Many persons in North Topeka are moving out of their homes, although there seems to be little danger.

Candied Flowers.

The latest novelty in candies is candied flowers, says the New York World. The art of making them has not yet been brought to the same state of perfection here as in European countries, but some of the season's novelties are quite as attractive to the eye and palate as though they bore the magic word "imported" in their makeup. Switzerland knows how to candy flowers, and they have a trick about using them and rose leaves on the other side which is not much practiced here. Beaten up in whipped cream, they color and flavor the cream charmingly and in this way can be used with great effect in a large number of desserts. Ralette, a French chef of high reputation, is devoting himself to experiments in candying flowers and is trying to do up a flower palatably with its own leaves and stem all perfect.

The crystal clearness, the rich sonority, the appealing "humanity" of the Packard tone satisfies the musical ear. Exactness of musician or simple lover of pure melody, you have only to hear the Packard to feel its unusual tone charm.

A New Plan For Huckleberry Pickers.

William Gilbert, near New Paris, Ind., is running his twenty-five acre huckleberry marsh on a novel plan, says the Indianapolis News. Instead of giving the pickers a share of the berries Mr. Gilbert has invited the public to pay 25 cents admission to the marsh and pick as many berries as they can during their stay. At the opening of the marsh there were forty-six teams and 125 people awaiting entrance. People are flocking thither from all directions and are taking away immense quantities of berries, which are fine and plentiful.

ANECDOTES OF WHISTLER.

Late Artist's Treatment of a Sitter Who Annoyed Him.

It is told of the late James McNeill Whistler that upon a certain occasion he appeared at a dinner party with no tie on, says Harper's Weekly. A friend of his remonstrated.

"For heaven's sake, Whistler, you've forgotten your tie!"

"Not at all," he returned, "not at all! Why wear a tie? My white collar rises from my white shirt, which is fastened by a gold stud. Everything simple, excellent. Why put another white on top of that? I'm much better dressed than you!"

Whistler was unresponsive to sitters who annoyed him—in fact, a sitting with him was an ordeal that it required courage to face. It is said that one man annoyed him horribly by saying at the end of each sitting:

"How about that ear, Mr. Whistler? Don't forget to finish that!"

At the last sitting, everything being done except this ear, Whistler said:

"Well, I think I am through. Now I'll sign it," which he did in a very solemn, important manner, as was his way.

"But my ear, Mr. Whistler! You aren't going to leave it that way?"

"Oh, you can put it in after you get home!"

Whistler's laxity in the matter of engagements was notorious. No one ever knew if he were coming or not to affairs. But his point of view is explained in his answer to a friend of his who knew that he had an engagement to dine with some swells in a distant part of London and who felt that it was most impolite for Whistler to offend them. It was growing late, and yet Whistler was painting away, madly, intently.

"My dear fellow," he said to him at last. "It is frightfully late, and you have to dine with Lady Such-a-One. Don't you think you'd better stop?"

"Stop!" fairly shrieked Whistler.

"Stop, when everything is going so beautifully? Go and stuff myself with disgusting food when I can paint like this? Never! Never! Besides, they won't do anything until I get there—they never do!" And the entire speech is most characteristic of the man.

EIGHTH ANNUAL REGATTA.

Milwaukee, the "Sidewalk" Yacht, Wins Her Race Easily.

Milwaukee, Aug. 8.—The eighth annual regatta of the Lake Michigan Yachting association opened auspiciously with over fifty flyers entered in the various events. The feature race of the morning was the Class 20, sloops, known as the Canada cup class. Milwaukee, the "sidewalk" yacht built on inland lines and owned by Robert Nunnemacher, had everything her own way, winning with a mile to spare over Illinois, Prairie and Minota, which finished in the order named. The morning races were fifteen miles, or twice over a triangular course 2½ miles to the leg. The afternoon races were once around the course. The twenty-one-foot cabin class and the twenty-one-foot knock-about class were the features of the afternoon. In the former, La Rita went over the line first, gained on first leg 2½ minutes over Pilot, leaving Outlaw, Hoosier and Privateer following and finishing in the order named.

In the knock-about class, Cock Robin got over the line first, was blanketed by Badger after five minutes' sailing, the latter boat holding the lead to the finish. The distinctive feature in this race was the fact of Badger making better time than some of the boats in the cabin class which carried much more canvas.

Kansas Rivers Rising.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 10.—Heavy rains Sunday throughout the eastern and central portions of the state have caused all the streams to rise. The Smoky Hill, Blue and Solomon rivers are all high. Many persons in North Topeka are moving out of their homes, although there seems to be little danger.

Candied Flowers.

The latest novelty in candies is candied flowers, says the New York World. The art of making them has not yet been brought to the same state of perfection here as in European countries, but some of the season's novelties are quite as attractive to the eye and palate as though they bore the magic word "imported" in their makeup. Switzerland knows how to candy flowers, and they have a trick about using them and rose leaves on the other side which is not much practiced here. Beaten up in whipped cream, they color and flavor the cream charmingly and in this way can be used with great effect in a large number of desserts. Raquette, a French chef of high reputation, is devoting himself to experiments in candying flowers and is trying to do up a flower palatably with its own leaves and stem all perfect.
